ATEL Capital Group sponsors public and private programs for both individual and institutional investors. Our funds provide investors an opportunity to participate in the dynamic equipment finance and venture debt industries. We have proven since 1977 that we are capable fiduciaries of our investors' capital and deliver the expertise necessary to navigate diverse economic conditions. In the process of doing this we have earned the trust of our investors and business partners which has enabled ATEL to thrive over the last four decades.

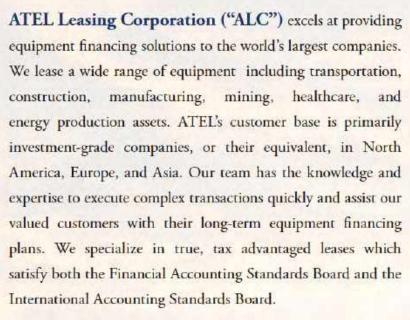

The diversity of our financial products allow us to support our customers by providing the type of capital they require, at the time they require it, through every stage of their business development. We fund lease transactions for Fortune 500 companies through ATEL Leasing Corporation and support innovative technological businesses through ATEL Ventures, Inc. The services we provide encompass equipment leasing, asset-based lending, venture lending, lease administration, and asset management.

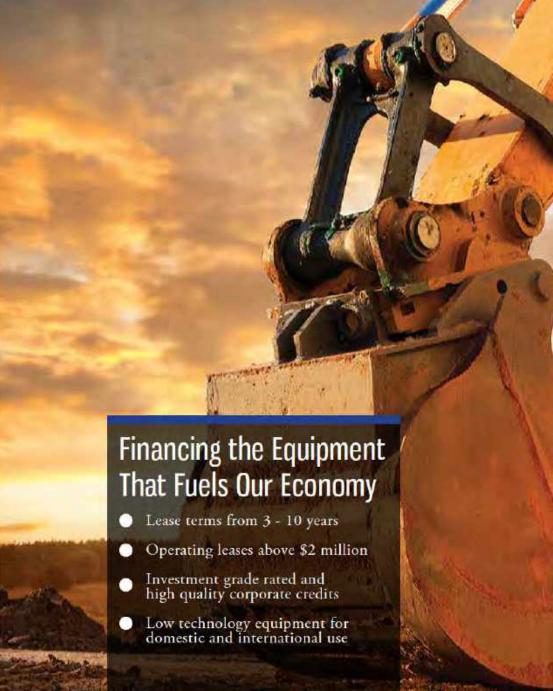

An enduring dedication to service.

Since inception, ATEL has developed an extensive network of broker dealer and institutional relationships that have been an integral part of our fund raising success. They continue to provide ATEL with efficient access to capital markets globally so we can further support the growth of the United States economy.

The entire family of companies that comprise ATEL Capital Group share a common thread: an enduring dedication to service and the desire to cultivate long-term relationships with our investors and clients.

Each customer is unique and ALC responds accordingly. We design leases to reflect our customer's priorities; whether it be lowering payments, monetizing assets, preserving cash, or optimizing either operating or capital budgets. ALC deploys account teams that are both technically proficient and customer centric. To assure maximum flexibility while delivering value pricing, ALC works closely with our customers to upgrade, terminate, sublease, or renew leased equipment. ATEL Equipment Services ("AES") manages ATEL Leasing Corporation's portfolio. AES is comprised of professionals with an in-depth knowledge of many asset types combined with the seasoned expertise that comes from managing assets for over thirty-five years. We develop and retain our own staff, which is an important aspect of our success. Having equipment experts as part of our team permits us to make informed decisions regarding every aspect of a transaction. This advantage is reflected in our pricing and allows ATEL to compete effectively against some of the world's largest financial institutions. AES's asset management services encompass inspections, appraisals, equipment sales, recovery services, and lessee negotiations. Our team works closely to design a strategy tailored to meet the specific goals and objectives of our customers. AES also offers re-marketing services to our lessees, equipment users, manufacturers, and other third parties that wish to sell used equipment in a competitive market.

Secured financing on flexible terms

ATEL Ventures, Inc. ("AVI") is a leading provider of senior secured loans to emerging growth companies. AVI's focus has been on those companies considered to be the best in their class. This approach has been proven effective by the fact that AVI's customers have the financial backing of the top tier venture capital firms worldwide.

AVI's role is to support our portfolio companies from the ground up, enabling them to successfully create the game changing innovations of tomorrow. AVI does not have a lender mindset. Instead, we work with our customers to secure financing on flexible terms without many of the constraints found through other financial institutions. Our experience, in combination with the expertise of our partners, gives our portfolio companies access to a unique network of services, products, and investors throughout the world.

The emerging growth companies in our portfolio range from early stage enterprises to those preparing for an initial public offering. AVI provides debt for all stages of a company's development across a wide range of industries such as information technology, life sciences, and green technologies. Our close proximity to Silicon Valley makes AVI ideally positioned to provide responsive and personalized service to companies in these vital industries.

Your strategic partner in the capital markets

ATEL Securities Corporation ("ASC") is a FINRA (Financial Industry Regulatory Authority) registered broker dealer. ASC works with other FINRA firms as part of an underwriting syndicate that raises equity for ATEL Capital Group's equipment financing funds. Some of these funds offer individual investors the opportunity to be a part of a fund that has traditionally only been available to institutional investors.

Over the last three decades the underwriting syndicates assembled by ASC have raised billions of dollars in the U.S. public securities markets. Our success is attributed to ASC's dedication and service to over 50,000 investors and also to the many long standing relationships ASC has cultivated with our selling broker dealers and their representatives.

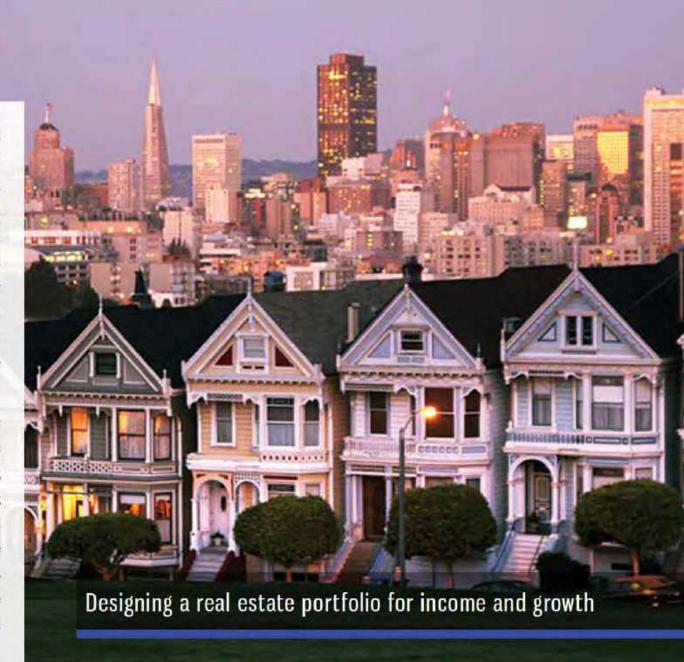

As a FINRA member firm, ASC is a part of a network that includes five thousand broker dealers with over one hundred thousand branch offices and almost three-quarters of a million Registered Representatives. Headquartered in San Francisco, ASC maintains offices across the United States to better serve our broker dealer community.
